

OUR SPACE

DIGITAL ADVENTURES IN SPACE

Gyroscopes

One very important problem in space is how do we measure and maintain the direction of the spacecraft? Well, we use gyroscopes. These instruments use conservation of angular momentum (discussed in a separate clip) and in this demonstration Richard explains how they were used on Soyuz and on the ISS.