

OUR SPACE

DIGITAL ADVENTURES IN SPACE

METRO - Washing in Space

Yes even in space you have to wash! If not, the ISS would get smelly and it's not as if you can open a window to get some fresh air. Richards's Challenge: how to keep clean without gravity. The answer perhaps surprisingly involves wet towels. As teams of humans are expected to venture further and longer into space how will personal hygiene play its part?